Preface.

OWING to circumstances peculiar to the county of Cork, the Marriage Licence bonds between the above dates are in most cases the only official evidence now available of the marriages to which they refer. The best evidence of a marriage in past times is of course the entry thereof in a Parish Register, but in county Cork very few of these registers contain records earlier than about A.D. 1800, and in the case of Christ Church, Cork (A.D. 1643 to 1878, but with a large chasm from 1661 to 1700), St. Mary Shandon, Cork (1671 to 1873), St. Multose, Kinsale (1664 to 1873), and St. back into the seventeenth century. Kilgariff (Clonahilty) begins in 1700, but has a chasm between 1733 and 1791. The next best evidence is a Marriage Licence Grant; the Grant Books for Cork Marriage Licences, preserved in the Public Record Office, only commence in 1750, so that before that date this class of evidence also is wanting in most cases in county Cork.

In the absence of Parish Registers and of Marriage Licence Grants, the next best evidence (which in such absence becomes then primary presumptive evidence) is a Marriage Licence Bond. Such a bond had to be entered into before a Bishop would grant his licence for a proposed marriage, because the Bishop was open to a claim for damages if he issued a licence for the solemnisation of a marriage against which there existed some "canonical let or impediment," or some other legal objection, such as a pre-contract of one of the parties to marry some other person, and so to protect himself, the Bishop required two solvent persons, of whom the intended bridegroom was generally one, to enter into a bond for a sum stated therein—generally proportioned to the status of the parties—that there existed no such impediment or objection.

It will thus be seen that the Marriage Licence bonds of the diocese of Cork and Ross from their commencement to A.D. 1750 are of the highest value to genealogists, or to those who have to prove their descent for the purposes of claiming property or making or proving pedigrees connected with that portion of the county Cork included in the diocese of Cork and Ross.

These bonds contain the names of the respective persons proposing to be married, and of the surety who joins, generally with their residing addresses, with the residences or parishes of these persons, and occasionally their particular claims on them. The bonds themselves, to which the subjoined list of names and parishes, in the Index, are on record in the Public Record Office at Ireland, Four Courts, Dublin, and any person can, on application and payment of the prescribed fees (one shilling per folio) obtain from that office a certified copy of any of these bonds, or of any part of a bond, e.g. omitting the merely formal part if not required.

The nature of the information afforded by these bonds may be gathered from the following copy of one of which I happen to have an original copy.

Marriage Licence Bond, 1679. Diocese of Cork and Ross.

Know all men by these presents yt wee John⁽¹⁾ Gillman of Curraheen, in ye Liberties of ye Citty of Cork, gent., and Anthony⁽²⁾ Cole of ye fish of Rathony, in ye north Liberties of Corke, gent., are holden and firmly bound unto ye Rt. Rev^d father in God, Edward L^d Bp of Corke and Rosse in ye just and full sume of one thousand pounds ster^t currt mony of England to be paid to ye s^d L^d B^p his heirs and success^{rs} at life or their will and pleasure for y^e w^{ch} paymt well and truly to be made and done in manner and forme aforesaid, wee ye s^d John Gillman and Anthony Cole do bind us and each of us our Exec^{rs} and admors jointly and severally firmly by these presents, sealed with our seal. Dated at Corke ye 28th day of June anno Dⁿⁱ 1679

The condition of this obligaton is such yt if hereafter there doth not app^{er} any canonically lett or impedim^t but yt ye above bounden John Gillman now solemnize matrimony with Mary⁽³⁾ ye daughter of Heyward St. Leger of ye fish of Rathony in ye Liberties afores^d Esq^{rs} and yt there is noe suite depending in any Court concerning any p^r contract of marriage with any other, and yt ye consent of ye parents and friends of both p^{ties} be thereunto, yt then this obligaton to be voyd, otherwise to remayne in full force and vertue in Law.

*Signed sealed and delivered for ye use of ye L^d Bp in presence of
James Weekes
John Fitz-gerald.*

In some cases the obligatory part of the bond is in Latin, as in the following copy

Marriage Licence Bond, 1698. Diocese of Cork and Ross.

Noverint universi p^r presentes nos Fran⁽¹⁾ Bretridge de Magalib⁽²⁾ Mullac⁽³⁾ diocesis Clon⁽⁴⁾, gent., and Jacobus⁽⁵⁾ Weeks de civitate Cork⁽⁶⁾ gent., hunc et hunc per obligari Rendo in x^{to} Patri et D^{no} D^{no} Edwardo p^{ro}curatore dⁿⁱ Corke et Rosse h^o in quingentis libris ster^t, etc., etc.

Dat^o vicesimo die mensis Septembris anno Dⁿⁱ 1698.

The condition of y^e obligaton is such yt if at all times hereafter there shall not app^{er} any canonically lett or impedim^t if yt ye above bounden Francis Bretridge may solemnize matrimony with Mary Gillman of ye fish of Rathony, spinster, etc., etc.

*Sealed signed and delivered for ye use of y^e s^d L^d
Bp in presence of
Peter Lethame
Geo. Donelan
Edward Sampson.*

(1) Bridegroom's name and residence.

(2) Surety's name and residence.

(3) Bride's name, etc.

(4) Bridegroom's name (accusative case).

(5) The bride, and also the surety in this case, lived in the diocese of Cork, so naturally the bond was taken out there, though the bridegroom lived in Clonycroft diocese. Even when this latter diocese was united with Cork and Ross, the records of these last were always kept separately from those of Clonycroft.

(6) Surety's name (accusative case).

As a matter of fact, persons of the Roman Catholic religion often entered into such bonds as well as those of the Protestant faith, but the religion of the parties is not, so far as I know, stated in those documents for the diocese of Cork and Ross.

The publication of this Index is undertaken under the auspices of the Cork Historical and Archaeological Society, and with the permission of the Master of the Rolls on the recommendation of J. J. Digges La Touche, esq., LL.D., the Deputy Keeper of the Records, Ireland, to whom the thanks of the Society have been gratefully given for this permission to print thus, in an accessible form, a work of use for all time to persons connected with the county of Cork, and prepared with that accuracy and skill which are habitual in the Public Record Office of Ireland. H. W. G.

NOTE.—I have to apologise for using as illustrative bonds two relating to my own family, but beside that published at p. 288 of vol. ii., 2nd series of the Journal, I have none others at hand.
